

Fellow Alumni,
When I attended commissioning two weeks ago, it occurred to me that day that we will ultimately be sending some of these young officers into harm's way. With Memorial Day upon us, I recall too many former shipmates who are no longer with us. Many of us will be spending some quality time with family and friends over this weekend. While we do, let's remember those families for whom this weekend will not be a celebration, but a remembrance. Many of you, I am sure, also have memories of too many who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. Freedom, truly is not free.
